Presidents report - By Lex

Great to see all the hard work that has been happening around the place with the spa and new power boxes going in. Keep reading for more details on these. Also a big thanks to everyone who helped with the tidying up of the hedge trimmings.

We have had a busy time with visitors out at the club which is great to see.

I am looking forward to the 3 events coming up at the club soon. Firstly the "Meet the neighbours" BBQ Pool Party on the 29th of Jan. This was a really fun event last time and its great to see the number of RSVP's we have already had in for this, keep them coming!

Also very much looking forward to celebrating the clubs 50th anniversary in style over Waitangi weekend at the Mini-Rally. I know a lot of work has gone into the event. My thanks to all those involved.

I also believe the Renew weekend organisation is going strong and it looks like this will be another great event -not that I'm allowed to go :)

So please make the most of the warmer weather and pop out to the club and enjoy all the social events.

Yours Naturally

Lex

Wots Bin Happening Lately At W.O.S

Several substantial works projects have been undertaken over the holiday period. Rather than putting out a call for a “Working Bee” we simply relied on just getting the jobs done utilizing the volunteer services of members that were simply “there” or “available” on the day. Team spirit prevailed and tasks we completed with minimum of fuss and a great time was had by all sharing the toil and pleasures of spending quality time together improving the club for the benefit of all.

Without fail the highlight of each of those days proved to be the social interludes enjoyed by all, plus when someone decreed that we had achieved enough today so lets “knock off” for drinks and social inter-action to relax in the great facilities and surrounds here at W.O.S.

We have had the contractors in to cut all the high hedges around our site—WOW it looks so neat—Thanks to the core team of hard workers that cleaned up all the trimmings.

We organized to trench in a heap of new power cabling to increase the number of powered sites available for the growing number of members and overnight visitors making the most of the great facilities and hospitality here at W.O.S.

John B orchestrated and conducted the first symphony with Rod and Peggy on the shovel and rakes and Cor V played the spades whilst Kevin dug deep to knock out a few shaky lines on the trencher in E Major although some out of sync “F” chords were heard at times. The W.O.S site soon reverberated with the acoustic harmonic ambience of sound from the diesel powered trencher machine backed up by the choir of volunteers playing their parts interspersed with chatting and jesting. Next Bruce did a solo rendition on the trencher and he also did a great number on the water pipes which initially did dampen things a little however proved most entertaining for the responsive audience. Bill showed us up with a star performance on the trencher to end the first segment of the show then the entire cast and crew were treated to lavish lunch prepared by Gail, Pamela, Christine, Chris & Tony, John & Molly—then Bruce cleaned up a whole trencher by himself - LOL - so Kevin could take it back looking like new again, then the rest of the team tooled up for John B’s symphony No 2 playing the pipes and cables into the trenches and around the bends to end on a high note up “D major” power poles. The grand finale was the most difficult stanza, filling the trenches and ramming the dirt featured Mike G, Bruce B, Cor V and the rest of the hard working team combined to complete the job and tidy up.

Sunday afternoon 29th January –Meet the neighbours BBQ & pool party—open day so bring togs etc as it is a clothed event—we need a good representation of club members so we need YOU here to at least match the number of visitors.

Cor V has donated both his time and carpentry expertise to construct for the club a brand new shelter/shed to house the new filtration and pumping equipment the club bought to upgrade the operation of the spa pool.

W.O.S is indebted to Cor for turning out such a handsome new update to one of the club's most used facilities here.

Rod G then generously masterminded the design and fit out of the new filtration unit and pipework ably assisted by Bruce B—the end result producing a fantastic improvement to the operation and water quality of the spa. We are fortunate the club has good numbers of dedicated and intrepid members in their midst happy to dedicate time and energy to the many and varied projects and ongoing chores for the betterment of all at W.O.S.-yes you as well, 😊 your behind the scenes work does not go un-noticed.
