Oranui Games - What a great Weekend!

What a delightful weekend of activity we had during the Oranui Games on Auckland Anniversary weekend. It was wonderful to see so many people: visitors and members alike: enjoying themselves; either taking part in the sport events or just having a relaxing time. At the outset, Brad the President gave a brief outline when the Oranui Games started in its present form from about year 2000. The official address and flag raising was presented by Les Olsen, the club Patron.

Les mentioned that the forerunner to the Oranui games was the Inter-club sports days which began in 1966 to foster better relations between the clubs in the Auckland Waikato regions. These weekend activities were usually held around Auckland Anniversary weekend - depending on what other activities were being held by the other clubs at the time. In the years when the NZNF Rally was held at Auckland the Anniversary weekend was usually a relaxed camping and socialising affair with casual sport activity prevalent.

The Oranui Games have grown in stature since their beginning with more sports such as Petanque, Darts and Kubb being added to the schedule of Volleyball, Miniten and swimming over recent years. These latter three activities have become so popular that they have actually sidelined the more traditional naturist sports of Volleyball and Miniten to some degree.

The club at one time had regular sport competition days and also an occasional fun activity day which have now been gathered together to form the Oranui Games at which medals are presented to the worthy winners. These games have provided opportunities for those less active and as well as the youngsters to take part; thus allowing the whole family to have an enjoyable weekend of fun and socialising.

The present weekend was a great tribute to those organising the sports and social activities. To see the shop once again open and the BBQ area and bar in full swing was grand. Of particular note was the Saturday night Fireworks display organised by Darryl and his helpers. As always, this display was of a very high standard and in my view even surpassed some of the previous ones. To see so many of the children having such a great time on the trampoline and also in the pool swimming made one reflect on earlier times when the noise of the children drowned out the usual adult chatter. It is wonderful that we can see so many young ones having a great time with their friends.

Thanks must go to Dianne and her team of helpers who managed the bar. To Brad and his helpers who did a great job in the shop and to Steve and Takis and the other sports organisers for a fine weekend of activity on what has surely been one of the best spells of continuous fine weather we have experience in Auckland for many years. Thanks also to Pam and her helpers for the great afternoon teas and to all the others who joined us for a great weekend of activities.

Congratulations to all the event winners and a big thank you to all of those who participated in the sports events. Don't be dejected if you missed out on a medal this time, come again next year and see if you can achieve the ultimate prize. Many of us never won a prize on the first try, it was only by perseverance that we were able to achieve our ultimate goal.

Please join us again next year for another great adventure!

Presi's Piece

Hi everyone,

"Winter is coming". It's definitely getting cooler now, so its time to take our naturist activities indoors, unless you are working hard outdoors still and working up some body heat.

AGMs, mid winter Christmas dinners, sitting by the fire are now the order of the day. Overseas they are gearing up for their summer season but unfortunately this year, again, we cannot join them.

The executive is meeting at Wellington Naturist Club on the weekend of 3-4 July, so if you have any ideas of things we should be discussing please let me know. You are welcome to sit in on the meeting if you are in the neighbourhood.

The executive continues to monitor the situation with respect to the INF and can report that very little has changed there since we disaffiliated. Covid has deferred Congress meetings so the Federations have not had a chance to meet in any way, or discuss ongoing issues.

If you have not already seen it, check out Alice and Dion Demet's piece with Seven Sharp [<https://www.tvnz.co.nz/shows/seven-sharp/clips/the-nudist-camp-tucked-away-in-a-corner-of-west-auckland?fbclid=IwAR2IM5OQF8Wvi-KVbwUK1rIjXpWbSHctGq51cdb4-4kBiV52Poy16nVywEU>], what excellent publicity for AONC and naturism in general. Have you thought about contacting your local radio station or newspaper to do something similar?

Sorry this is a short piece, but I have been unwell for some time.

Regards, Wendy Lowe

Gardening stripped to basics

"Wear sunblock, a hat and gloves."

That's the advice for anyone wanting to take part In International Naked Gardening Day today from Alice Dewet, secretary of the Auckland Outdoor Naturist Club.

Dewet, who was introduced to naturism through a friend in her native South Africa 13 years ago, believes that naturism, and naked gardening, is a way to get away from the modern world.

"It's easy to get caught up in technology and lose touch with nature and our roots. This is a way to connect to nature and focus on the outdoor and the environment."

Dewet moved to New Zealand with her husband 12 years ago and they attend the club In Ranui with their son.

She thinks it is more comfortable to visit a club rather than a public place such as a naturist beach when starting in naturism. Or if you want to try naked gardening in your garden, then perhaps erect a gazebo to afford privacy.

And what about the feet?

"Definitely wear footwear if you're digging, for safety's sake. But I prefer barefoot gardening to really connect with the earth."

Auckland Outdoor Naturist Club can be found on Facebook at Auckland Outdoor Naturist Club (Facebook) or website aonc.gonatural.nz

Thinking about visiting Rotota Sun Club this autumn?

The period for guests visiting Rotota Sun Club has been extended until Queen's Birthday weekend. Please book using the forms on our website (www.rotota.co.nz)

Keep an eye out for May accommodation specials. The lakeside hot tub operates all year round and we have a huge supply of firewood to keep the clubhouse cosy!

We're located on the shores of Lake Ohakuri, 50km from both Rotorua & Taupo.

John

I see from their advert (top left) that Rotota will be welcoming guests until Queen's Birthday weekend!

If you've not visited Rotota before, now's your opportunity. Once there, beside the famous concrete hot pool (below) down by the lake, with its obvious opportunities for boats; you'll find a number of bush tracks leading to several local features, such as the fumaroles (left) and the hot stream with a nearby waterfall (above).

John

You can easily book on line. (I hadn't realised that, when I turned up without a booking!) My welcome nevertheless, was a pleasant and fulsome one. (JL)

A super sunny southern summer

Greetings all, I hope everyone has had an amazing summer and been able to get out and enjoy the sun after a forgettable year in 2020. I am a 33-year-old naturist based in North Canterbury. We have had an amazingly long and hot summer here, with two 35° days recorded.

I have been lucky enough to purchase a ten-acre block at Ashworths Beach and have spent an awful lot of time practicing naturism out at the block this summer and of course out on the beach too. I am planning to build on the block next summer and look forward to being there full time. I even marked out my house with pegs and a measuring wheel in the nude one beautifully sunny nor-west day. There is a substantial woodlot at one end which includes one very tall mature pine tree. A survivor from the pine forest that was recently harvested on the land. It is an amazing tree and I plan to call the block "Lone Pine" after the tree. The woodlot is full of grassy little spots sheltered and secluded and perfect for sunbathing and naturism.

Ashworths Beach itself is also well suited to naturism. Accessible by four-wheel drive it is easy to find a quiet spot along the beach to sunbathe and swim in the nude at your leisure. Surfing nude is also a favourite activity of mine and I hope to do a lot more of it next summer.

Over the holiday period I was able to head over to the west coast for some rest and relaxation, surfing and naturism. I think the Buller region is really under rated for naturism. I find it very quiet, the people are relaxed, the scenery and nature is amazing, and there are plenty of quiet and secluded beaches perfect for practicing naturism too. Some of my favourites are located either side of Punakiki. I was able to spend a couple of lovely sunny days nude on the beach without encountering anyone for the entire day. It really feels like you are getting back to nature over there, with the ruggedness of the coast and amazing backdrops of the hills. When its not raining it is so beautifully sunny, the heat can be intense and almost feels tropical compared to the east coast.

I have really enjoyed being able to practice nudism more regularly this summer, I think we have some of the best beaches in the world in New Zealand and it has been amazing to explore some new ones this summer, and all nude of course!

We are so blessed to live in this beautiful country of ours. Enjoy your winter everyone and see you out on the beaches next summer!

Kind regards,
Darryl McIntosh

“DODGE”

One thing the Eastman Kodak Company is very stern about is naked pictures. If photographers send colour photographs that are naked - really naked - to the Eastman plant in Rochester for finishing, Eastman refuses to send them back, on the grounds that the company might get into trouble with the Post Office Department for transmitting indecent exposures. A man in Bridgeport finally broke Eastman down, however, by sending in some nude studies for processing and with them a brace of carrier pigeons. "If you have a drop of sporting blood," he wrote, "you'll send my pictures back." The pigeons arrived two days later, with the finished pictures under their wings.

BoPSC Weekend Visit. 13 of us went to BoPSC for a club visit and stay. We were warmly greeted despite the weather and enjoyed their hospitality. We played 3 Down under the covered BBQ area. WOS recorded the top scorers with 4 players getting 10 points in one end. Lunch was served, freshly cooked sausages or steak patties on bread prepared on the BBQ. We played some informal games inside during the afternoon due to the inclement weather, followed by Happy Hour and a Potluck Tea. After tea we played Sjoelen a Dutch board game where you flick timber discs down a board and collect points. This is a fun game. BoPSC has lovely well presented grounds. If you are looking for a quiet time and relaxing place to stay, we can recommend it!

BAY OF PLENTY STAY

We had Bay of Plenty Naturists stay for a couple of nights. A lovely group who taught us the rules of Kubb. We played throughout the day and it appears we have a couple of good players amidst us. Westie and Doris were really impressive with their style and accuracy winning most games. Shona was quite impressive also. So guess who is getting a couple of Kubb sets. There was lots of laughter and chatter with this cheerful lot. On the last night we had a nice meal and Robyn made an awesome apple crumble – it was so yummy. We played left right and centre on the last night with some prizes for the winners. Hope these guys make it back again soon.

A great bunch of people. OSC May n/l

Lights, Action, Naughty Bits: A Thematic Analysis of New Zealanders' Attitudes to Naked Attraction

Abstract

The sexualisation of culture has generated much debate in western discourse around its effect on the normalisation of nudity and sexual activity. The reality television show Naked Attraction has increased the dialogue around this debate after its airing, originally in the UK, and then in international territories. The show has been applauded for profiling diverse people, whether that be concerning: sexual orientation, body image, gender or ethnicity. However, it has also been accused of showcasing pornography. To explore where New Zealanders' attitudes were positioned on the show, we thematically analysed online comments from two local media entities and found that New Zealanders were positive on its nudity and approach to sexual discourse.

Introduction

A debate between advocating sexual understandings versus public morals has manifested itself in online discussions following the airing of the UK television programme Naked Attraction.

The first season was screened in 2017 and averaged 174,700 viewers weekly. It rated highly among the 18-49 year old demographic (the target audience for the show), but as of July 2018, upwards of 536 complaints had been received by the Broadcasting Standards Authority (BSA). Many levelled accusations at the show and Television New Zealand (TVNZ) for showcasing pornography.

Because generally, New Zealanders have appeared to embrace sexual constructs, the complaints about the show suggested that more research was needed to explore the attitudes of New Zealanders towards Naked Attraction.

Understanding how New Zealanders might be responding to the sexualisation of culture is also advantageous given that until now much of the relevant scholarship has centred on British, European or American contexts.

The sexualisation of culture

Those opposed to the sexualisation of culture have become increasingly concerned about the impacts on children and adolescents of exposure to nudity and sex, especially as the media has become what some experts refer to as a "super peer." (This term refers to the scenario whereby parents and educational institutions are reluctant to impart information pertaining to sexual activity, leading young people to gain much of their understanding about relationships, dating, appearance and sex from the media content they consume.)

Some researchers note that our sexualised culture still requires that women are projected as 'available and objectified,' and expected to be "young, white, heterosexual and conventionally attractive" and "men had to appear as toned and young to embody the 'idealised and eroticised aesthetic'."

We were keen to consider how audiences watching Naked Attraction and its naked bodies, reacted to the types of bodies on display.

Methodology

We chose to use thematic analysis because of its flexibility and utility when analysing copious amounts of data. The process led to formation of our four key themes: Body Positivity, Let's talk about sex, Don't judge a book by its cover, and Freedom of choice.

We thematically analysed the comments on the FaceBook Pages of both The New Zealand Herald and Stuff.co.nz where the articles were also displayed (eight FaceBook articles were analysed). In total, we analysed 2413 comments on the articles.

Results

Early observations of the data signalled that the majority of people commenting on the show held favourable views (76% were in favour of the show, and 24% were against). That is, the majority of social media commenters tended to support the continuation of the show and were not opposed to it being broadcast on free-to-air public television channel TVNZ 2. What was interesting, however, was how social media commenters (referred to as commenters from now on) justified their support or opposition to the show.

In exploring the online comments of social media commenters we determined that a greater proportion wanted to see the show retained on New Zealand broadcast television than those supporting moves to ban the content outright.

Conclusion

Generally speaking, those New Zealanders' commenting enjoyed, supported and were positive about the show Naked Attraction. The majority of those commenting on the show were not perturbed by the nakedness. Instead, they found it to be refreshing, especially because the show offered real people that were relatable and validated the self-concepts of many commenters. At the very least, those advocating for the continuation of the show were entertained and not offended by the nudity, sexual messages and diversity on offer. Admittedly, there were those concerned about how the nakedness and sexual innuendo might impact on young audiences, and there were those appalled by the show, but for the most part, they were in the minority. Therefore, we conclude that some New Zealanders are open to a show such as Naked Attraction, and favour independent choice and liberal ideas, over censorship and conservatism.

Although our research offers an exploration of how New Zealanders' viewed the show Naked Attraction, the findings are not without their limitations. We chose to analyse the comments that accompanied media articles exploring the controversy around the show. In some cases, those articles read more as opinion pieces and could have undermined the impartiality of those choosing to comment on the show. Furthermore, the responses of commenters may have been biased or a product of the "bandwagon effect," which could skew and undermine the findings of this research. Finally, although statistics indicate that those exposed to the content and interacting online generally fit a demographic profile, New Zealanders are not homogenous. Therefore, the findings of this research are a snapshot, rather than indicative of the views of all New Zealanders. In response to the limitations of this research, future research might look to interview and survey New Zealanders about their attitudes to Naked Attraction, or could be broadened to consider their attitudes to media representations of dating shows and sex. Finally, with a shift to a body positivity movement, it might also be worthwhile to explore how other television shows and media offerings might be assisting in changing attitudes to the body in Western society.

Justin Matthews,

Some places to go

Below is an alphabetic list of the known naturist options one can contact around this country. (Please let me know of any that have been missed!) No clubs are now under lockdown!

First are all the ('landed') clubs (Alpine Lakes is an exception) then are listed the known privately operated venues, ending with the National organisations. * Indicates an ad somewhere.

There are two main ID systems: the Federation's Central ID number, and the Free Beaches' (yellow) ID card. Both indicate your naturist credentials if visiting a venue other than 'one's own'. But please note that the host being visited has complete authority over any visitor - the ID's do not bestow in any 'rights' whatever, over the host's absolute authority.

A very rare opportunity!

Long-time Naturist Robert Hoyle is returning to Northland (from the Whanganui region). He aims to purchase 100+ acres of land with a view to setting up a self-sustainable environment geared towards a communal naturist lifestyle - so he is seeking others interested in forming an initial 'Trust Partnership'.

For more, contact Robert on 021 485 388 or email: robhoyle@robhoyle.co.nz
